Review

This was a thoughtful and emotional re-imagining of the lives of people caught up in The Pentrich Revolution. A considerable amount of dramatic license was employed in bringing this tragic tale to life with a tone reminiscent of Les Miserables.

While we know something of the men involved in the rising, this production also offered an insight into the lives of the women of Pentrich and South Wingfield - those who were left behind when their men were executed, transported or jailed. There was even a central role for Brandreth's son, Tom.

The musical also focused on the imagined inner turmoil of some of the main protagonists especially Brandreth and William Oliver giving them more three dimensional personalities.

Caroline Reader and Dave Culling did a marvellous job with their company of enthusiastic performers and were rewarded with an appreciative audience.

The Amber Valley and Erewash Walking Festival, Autumn Footprints, will include five of our walks in September 2017, led by the Pentrich and South Wingfield Revolution Bicentenary Group. These will take place as follow;

- Tuesday 12th September: Pentrich
- Thursday 14th September: Ripley
- Saturday 16th September: Alfreton
- Wednesday 20th September: South Wingfield
- Sunday 24th September: Heage and Lower Hartshay

The Pentrich and South Wingfield Revolution Group was formed in 2014 as a single purpose community organisation dedicated to increasing and retaining awareness of the 1817 Pentrich Revolution. It is now a Charitable Incorporated Organisation. Its objectives are:

- to commemorate the 1817 Pentrich Rising;
- to educate and increase awareness about the rising;
- to establish a legacy which preserves and entrenches the heritage of the Revolution.

Please note that there will be no newsletter in August – our next edition will be available from 1st September 2017.
